INTERESTS

Aside from being a programmer, on weekends most of my time is outdoors. On sunny days, I love taking photos, and I enjoy admiring the beauty of nature. Or with some friends, we take suburbs. I have intuitive thinking, and photography along with the trips that help me turn my thoughts into reality. Rainy days, when I'm forced to stay in my house. I reading, listening to soft music. I absolutely love reading. Whether it's reading an article, fiction and non- fiction. Reading is a really good way to learn new things.

I like to follow the big Software co's like Google, Facebook, Amazon and how they are doing and evolving. How they achieve such success. What are their leaders like. And I spend a large amount of my free time designing and development websites, I grasping new technologies and techniques in the industry to improve their professional qualifications, and meet the changing requirements of the job.
